FLOORING TACTILES

Visually impaired pedestrians are subject to a wide range of possible dangers and inconveniences when traveling alone. Tactiles are a special flooring tile with a very significant raised profile designed to provide the visually impaired with warning of impending hazard or give directional guidance. Conforms to Australian Standard 1428.4-2002 part 4 and tested to AS/NZS 4586-1999 and received a R11 Slip Resistance Classification. Tactiles come in two types; large round stud pattern used for Warning of Hazard and large ridge pattern for Direction of Travel. Made from a unique cork and rubber composition. The Tactiles are also quiet and highly durable making them chemical resistant to most common acids, alkalis, oils and greases and excellent anti slip in both wet and dry conditions. Tactiles are ideal for railway platforms, passenger platforms, vehicle pick-up/drop-off areas (e.g. bus stops), stairways, escalators, ramps or car park crossings and kerbs.
